THE HAPPY EDITOR.

If newspaper men didn't get licked every four or five days, the world would complain that they were not doing their duty. Duty in the newspaper business means to print everything that is told you, no matter how scandalous it is, and keep mum as to the name of your informant. It means to screen every man who comes to you with a pitiful mouth, and then have him hunt you with a shot gun the first time you say he left town when he didn't. Oh, its a darling business. You have to lie for merchants, railroads, lawyers, doctors and preachers, and unless you use the phrases "most popular," "most prominent," etc., etc., in every personal item, the persons written up say "Stop my paper." Yes, dear reader, it is the most interesting, satisfactory and suicidal profession on earth, and it is no wonder that newspaper men as a rule, become crabbed and mean, despising the world for its hypocrisy, and themselves for being a tool in this workshop of sham and ingratitude.—[Essex County (Mass.) Gazette, Dec. 23, 1768.]

While on the subject of agriculture, attention is called to the future of Arizona as a grape producer. Both soil and climate are especially well adapted to the raising of that fruit, and the fact grapes ripen here two months earlier than they do in California, and still earlier than in the east, secures to us a California and eastern market at a time of year when a higher price is always commanded. There can be no finer climate than that of Southern Arizona for the proper curing of wines, owing to its equal temperature and the dryness of the atmosphere, and the same causes operate in the production of raisins. —[Yuma Sentinel.]

The Afghans and Russians are fighting. Now if England keeps her faith with the Afghans we can look for an advance in the prices of American produce, especially in beef. In a business point of view, we wish that this war between these to great nations would be precipitated at once and continue long, while it may be wrong, morally speaking, to make such a wish, which, should it occur, cause the death of thousands, yet self preservation, it is said, is the first law of nature.

Reil, the Canadian agitator, was at one time a member of the Dominion Parliament, and is the same man who headed the outbreak in 1868. He is well educated man and demonstrated himself to be a good organizer and a shrewd and powerful leader. He was educated at Chicago and is a lawyer.

Already Secretary-of-War Endicott is known in Washington as the dude extinguisher. He has sent all the military society dudes to their regiments, to the horror of that strata of society which they were accustomed to illuminate by their presence.

St. Louis and Kansas City have both elected Democratic mayors. The influence of the new administration is having its effect on ward and pot-house politicians who want to be on the winning side.

The Florence Enterprise, in a recent issue, gives C. W. Beach editor of the Prescott Miner, an unmerciful drubbing. Tom Weeden was in the late legislature and knows whereof he speaks.

Cleveland is not making a clean sweep of republican office holders, but is following very closely to the civil service reform rules.

"Slugger" Sullivan and Paddy Ryan have agreed to have another bout, with hard gloves, on June 16, at Butte City, Montana.

The mormons must go say the Yaqui Indians.

TERRITORIAL ITEMS.

[Tucson Weekly Citizen.]

J. J. Preston was killed a few days ago by J. W. Fields, a rancher on the Gila River. Hard feeling had existed between the two for some time past. They met on the river below Gila Bend station. Preston was shot in the head with a Winchester rifle and his skull smashed by blows with the rifle. The plea is self defense. Fields claims that Preston forced him to it. He escaped without a scratch and came to town and delivered himself up and was taken to Phoenix. Preston was the main prosecutor in the Noonan whiskey case.

Private advices from Phoenix state that fully three thousand letters from all parts of the United States, Canada and Europe awaiting answer, are on the file of the new Commissioner of Immigration. This being true it speaks well for the limited advertisement abroad that our Territory has been given and argues well for the future of our happy land.

Some of the officers of the 10th cavalry, the regiment assigned to Arizona, are quite well known here. Lient Col. Wade, a son of Ben Wade, is to be stationed at Fort Apache; Major Anson Mills, at Ft. Thomas; Major C. B. McClellan, at Fort Verde; Major F. Van Vliet, at Fort Grant.

Petitions are being circulated for the appointment of Hon. J. T. Alsap, of Phoenix as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Arizona. Judge Alsap is a courteous, able and conscientious gentleman, and his appointment will be regarded as a proper one by his many friends in this Territory.

Army officers in this department do not think the headquarters will be removed from Whipple Barracks notwithstanding its isolation from all lines of transportation.

Green peas are retailed in this market at from 12 1/2 to 15 cents per pound.

[Mohave County Miner.]

Treasurer Smith disbursed $600 last Monday, through the medium of the Sinking Fund. Bids were put in at 95, 98 and 100 cents. The greater part of the amount went at the latter figure.

Four stage loads of people from Kingman came in on Thursday morning, proving that Taggart's stage line is equal to any kind of emergency.

All partnerships are required by the new law to be filed with the County Recorder of the county in which the co-partnership exists.

[Sunshine and Silver, Tucson.]

If one-half is true, of what is hinted by parties who pretend to know, the three Prescott papers didn't get away with so very much after all, by the time they had divided with the various members on the committees.

People have an idea that Pima is a timberless region may be surprised to learn that there is an oak tree on Con Ryan's ranch, near Harshaw, nine feet in diameter.

The placer gold excitement continues unabated at Globe. All the gulches between that place and Pinal mountain have been located.

Ernest Storm and Jos. Pascholy have gone into the cattle business together, having bought 450 Sonora cattle, which are at present near Sycamore Springs, Cochise Co., until a suitable ranch can be found.

Texas papers advise the rushing of cattle into Arizona, while there is a chance.

Wilcox cattle owners propose to establish a refrigerator at that place.

[Tucson Mining Index.]

The S. P. R. R. track is always assessed at $6,000 per mile, instead of $4,340 as has been stated. The fixing of this rate occurred some four years ago, and has been the rule ever since. It is the Board of equalization that fixed the rate, and Bob Paul has always assessed the road at the rate so established.

Policeman Buttner is about to receive some $2,000 back pension, on account of some wounds received while in service during the war.

Mr. Morgan, who brought in a herd of thoroughbred stock about a year ago, will arrive with another herd of Herefords, on Monday.

[Prescott Courier.]

There is talk of establishing a refrigerator at Ash Fork, on the A. & P. rail road.

Tom Fitch is back in Phoenix attending to his polygamous clients. Prospects for large and small fruits in Walnut Grove are said to be very good. Strawberries are now quite large.

It takes from $400 to $700 a month to run a Prescott printing office, and the wonder is, how on earth three offices are kept going in so small a town.

[Florence Enterprise.]

Agent Wheeler has given away forty wagons and sets of harness, within the few weeks just past, to Indians who have erected and are living in adobe houses.

A fire at Globe on the night of the 1st destroyed the Silver Belt office, the post-office, the bank, McCabe's law office, the telegraph office, the Pascoe hotel and Holborn's wholesale liquor house. We could not ascertain the origin of the fire or the extent of the losses. We regret that such a misfortune should have fallen to the lot of our Globe friends.

Mr. Megson returned from the Quijotas this week. He says the grading for the mill has been completed, and all the machinery is now on the road. The company's well is down four hundred feet, and contains a bountiful water supply for milling purposes. The well is 6 by 9 feet.

[Phoenix Herald.]

Ex-Delegate G. H. Oury is on his way home to Arizona.

The stock country between here and Prescott seems to be suffering from the depredations of stock thieves. Look out for them.

The Miner says "Bucky" O'Neil has invested several thousands of dollars in real estate in this valley. "Bucky" is likely to become a pumpkin eater yet.

Pursuant to a call a number of stockmen of the county met at the office of the Hon. A. C. Baker on Saturday evening, and a temporary organization was effected, with Mr. John La Tourette as chairman, and Mr. W. W. Houston as secretary.

Briton A. Hill, one of the leading attorneys of St. Louis, has purchased the Peralta grant, and is preparing to call upon the settlers of Salt River valley for a share of the spoils, a portion of which Reavis has so easily swindled them out of. He wants an agent here and the name of Ivy H. Cox, who diligently peddled the Reavis fraudulent deeds around this country, is suggested.

[Yuma Sentinel.]

The Indians are burning the weeds off their several patches of ground along the Colorado and the Gila before the overflow comes. As soon as the water recedes the Indians plant their corn, pumpkins, watermelons and beans.

A Yuma Indian exhibited a Gila monster on the streets last Tuesday. The reptile was fully twenty-four inches long and was hideous to behold. It was captured and killed on the bank of the Gila, near town.

[Phoenix Gazette.]

The territorial fair next fall will prove a credit to Arizona and no taxpayer will regret the money appropriated for the purpose from the territorial treasury.

Central Arizona has a greater variety of resources to depend upon than any other section of the coast. Profits may be derived from farming, fruit growing, stock raising in its various branches, mining, manufacturing, etc. The future of a country so blessed cannot be questioned.

If like improvement is made in the next two seasons as has been in the two just past, the Salt river valley will, by that time, become one of the greatest breeding places for fine-blooded live stock to be found on the Pacific coast. Our climate and other surroundings are admirably adapted to this particular class of industry, and the enterprise and foresight of our people are rapidly developing these advantages.

[Nogales Frontier.]

Ed. Peck, former owner of the celebrated Peck mine, and one of the oldest Hassayampers, in the Territory is at present in Nogales.

A car load of candles to be used for mining purposes, went south to Santa Ana, this week.

Don Louis Torrez, Governor of the State of Sonora, passed through here on his return from the City of Mexico, on Sunday last. The Governor stated to a Frontier local that the Federal Government had agreed to furnish all the monies and troops necessary to subject the Yaqui Indians to civil rule, and that it was the intention of the government to compel the Yaquis to farm within their reservation or exterminate them.
